In the News

As you might have noticed back in November, we completed the first stage of The Reading Circle. As we all know, no matter how much you plan, there always seems to be something that doesn't quite work out. However, with the help of the London & District Catholic School Board the final results of Phase One looks fantastic! We would like to thank all the Board employees involved for their patience and commitment in providing the equipment and manpower to configure the rocks for the circle and the distribution of the topsoil and mulch.

We also would like to recognize the support of Blue Con Inc. for providing the rocks for such an exceptional cost, we couldn't have asked for a better quality landscape rock. The savings realized, will help us purchase more trees and shrubs.

Finally, a special thanks goes out to Gabrielle Sanio, our landscape architect. She continues to provide exceptional support and guidance throughout the process.

Thank you to all our Supporters and Contributors, the School Council, the Staff, our Parent Groups and Community Members.

Corporate Contributors and Service Providers

- Thank you to the London & District Catholic School Board for their contribution of $2000 to help our school's naturalization program. (October 2007).
- St. Michael's School thanks Blue Con Inc. for supplying the landscape rocks for our outdoor reading circle at such an amazing low cost! (November 2007).
- Thank you to the London & District Catholic School Board for assisting us in the arrangement of rocks, topsoil and mulch in our reading circle (November 2007)

Community Contributors and Service Providers

- We would like to thank School Council and the parents of St. Michael's for their contribution of over $6000 to kick start this project. (October 2007)
- Gabrielle Sanio, MicroEnvironments Landscape Design - Gabrielle's knowledge and expertise in the landscape field has been a welcome boost to the playground revitalization program, without her this program would not have had such a strong foundation.
- JWA Group - We would like to thank the JWA Group for providing our promotional and marketing items, including our web site.
